Month Long Women's History Month Art Exhibits

Who We Are: The Will To Adorn

Photographer Angelica Ekeke serves as the Stories Coordinator at the Museum of the African Diaspora in downtown San Francisco, where she produces short films that chronicle the lives of people of African descent in the San Francisco Greater Bay Area. For centuries, women have used adornment as an expression of beauty, resistance, and celebration of their rich culture and history. Who We Are: The Will to Adorn is a photography exhibition that celebrates the unique histories, identities, and stories of women captured within a moment. Los Angeles Native, Angelica, moved to the Bay Area to complete her discipline in Photojournalism, Women and Gender Studies, and Spanish from San Francisco State University. Her love for art, texture, beauty, and authentic storytelling plays a significant role in her work. Her vision is to integrate documentary style photography and film to create graceful visual art.

Date: All month long
