Discussion:

1. Kurt has been in contact with all 4 of the Standards teams and provided an update on their status to the Steering Committee members. All standards teams have received the templates, have been asking questions, and have begun a writing plan with their individual standards.
2. It was added that the previous self-study, both Foothill and De Anza's, contain relevant information. They will both be accessible on the Accreditation website for teams.
3. There is still ongoing discussion going on with Standard II.A.6. regarding SLOs on the course syllabi. The Steering Committee and Academic Senate believe it is clear that SLOs should be printed on each course syllabus to comply with the standard, but there is disagreement with the Faculty Association on what is exactly necessary to print.
4. Kurt will give a Spring update to the campus community with an updated timeline and writing deadlines. The tentative date of December 10 was given to have the first draft submitted to the Editors so they can work on it over winter quarter and provide feedback.
5. In regards to Planning Agendas, it was decided that at the beginning of each standard the respective planning agenda will be addressed, as well as within the specific sub-standard section of the Self Study.
