Adopted June 24, 2009

Introduction

Over 20 years ago, the California Legislature and the Governor approved AB 1725 which directed the California Community College Board of Governors to develop regulations which, among other things:

... ensure faculty, staff, and students (have) the opportunity to express their opinions at the campus level, and to ensure that these opinions are given very reasonable consideration, and the right to participate effectively in district and college governance, and the right of academic senates to assume primary responsibility for making recommendations in the areas of curriculum and academic standards (70900.5).

Upon direction from the Legislature, the California Community College Board of Governors adopted Title V regulations to implement AB 1725. For faculty, these regulations are contained in section 51023 and again in section 53201 specifically for Academic Senates. Regulations pertaining to classified staff can be found in section 51023.5 and those pertaining to students are under section 51023.7. The Board of Governors then directed each community college district Board of Trustees to adopt local policies and procedures to implement these Title V regulations.

The FHDA Board of Trustees policies supporting the Title 5 regulations are contained in three sections (See Appendix):

- Board Policy 2222: Student Role in Governance
- Board Policy 2223: Role of the Academic Senate in Academic and Professional Matters
- Board Policy 2224: Role of Classified Staff in Governance

At Foothill College, participatory governance is grounded in the inclusion of faculty, staff, and students in the decision-making processes. The inclusion of all constituent groups and varying viewpoints promotes effective collaboration in college planning. The Academic and Classified senates, the Associated Students of Foothill College (ASFC), and the collective bargaining units are all present at the highest participatory governance council, Planning and Resource Council (PaRC). Two-way communication between the individual members of PaRC and their constituent groups is critical for optimal functioning of the planning structure.

Structures for Participation

Participatory Governance Group

Committee or council consisting of constituent representatives designated or selected to act in an advisory capacity that meets on a regular basis. The charge of Foothill College governance committees or councils is to communicate ideas, concerns, and recommendations through dialogue between policy or advisory groups, PaRC, and their constituents. In addition, Foothill De-Anza governance groups serve a similar role in facilitating the communication of idea, concerns, and recommendations through dialogue between policy and advisory groups across the district.

Operational Group

Standing committee or council intended to consider all matters pertaining to procedural issues as defined by the role of the members (e.g., Admin Council, Instructional Deans Group).

Subcommittee

A permanent sub group convened by a standing committee or council designated to consider specific subjects in detail for recommendations back to the standing committee or council. The chair must be a member of the committee or council to which it reports. Other members need not be members of the committee to which it reports.

Ad Hoc Committee

A working group or sub-group created by a council or operational committee to address and make recommendations on a particular subject. The members need not be from a council or committee.

Task Force

A constituency-represented group specifically convened by and reporting to PaRC or to the President (or President's designee) to address a special college-wide subject/issue and meets until the subject/issue is resolved.

Responsibility for Governance

Faculty Participation

Operational Planning

Individual departments and divisions have varying processes for how local decisions are made about developing syllabi, requesting supplies, and scheduling classes, among other things. Faculty are encouraged to check with their curriculum and senate representatives, department and division faculty, and division deans for more detailed information.

Participatory Governance

The Academic Senate is responsible for formal recommendations regarding academic and professional matters (See Appendix: California Administrative Code Title 5 Section 53201, FHDA Board Policy 2223). The Academic Senate Executive Board consists of three elected officers and two representatives from each academic division, along with an elected part-time faculty representative and liaisons from the Classified Senate, ASFC, Faculty Association, and President's Cabinet. Academic Senate meetings are open and all faculty are encouraged to communicate regularly with their representatives and to participate in Senate sponsored events, activities, and meetings. Senate minutes are posted on their website: <http://www.foothill.edu/senate/>. The Senate is also responsible for appointing faculty to college and district standing committees, peer review teams, and various college and district ad hoc committees. In addition, the Senate provides input into the prioritization process for new planning and resource requests through their appointments to the Core Mission Workgroups, the Operations Planning Committee, and the Planning and Resource Council. The Senate president meets regularly with the College President and Vice President of Instruction & Institutional Research to ensure college-wide faculty concerns are communicated and discussed. The Senate President serves alongside the College President and Classified Senate President in chairing the Planning and Resource Council (PaRC).

Collective Bargaining

The Faculty Association (FA) is the collective bargaining representative for all Foothill College faculty. FA often appoints representatives to committees and groups that deal primarily with employee contracts and benefit information and issues. Questions or concerns regarding faculty working conditions should be directed to your FA representatives.

Classified Staff Participation

Operational Planning

Classified staff have the responsibility to participate in decision-making in a number of different ways across the college. At the operational level, classified staff collaborate with other staff, administrators, faculty, and students within and across their departments, programs, and service areas to determine the most effective ways to meet the needs of the students, personnel, and the college. Different units have varying processes for how operational decisions are made and staff are encouraged to check with their supervisors, governance, and/or bargaining unit leaders for more detailed information.

Participatory Governance

The Foothill College Classified Senate is responsible for representing all classified staff in the participatory governance processes of the college and district (See Appendix: Education Code Section 70901.2, California Administrative Code Title 5 Section 51023.5, FHDACCD Board Policy 2224). Participation in the Senate provides all classified staff with the chance to contribute and respond to college and district policies. The Executive Board of the Senate consists of four elected officers, 10 elected representatives from all areas of the college, as well as any appointees to college or district committees. Senate meetings are open and all classified staff are encouraged to communicate regularly with their representatives and participate in Senate sponsored events, activities, and meetings. The Senate minutes and other timely information are posted on their website: <http://www.foothill.edu/classified/>. The Senate is responsible for appointing classified representatives to college and district standing and ad hoc committees. The Senate provides input to the prioritization process for new planning and resource requests through their appointments to the Core Mission Workgroups, the Operations Planning Committee, and the Planning and Resource Council. In addition, the Senate President meets regularly with the College President to ensure college-wide classified concerns are communicated and discussed. The Senate President serves alongside the College President and Academic Senate President in chairing the Planning and Resource Council.

Collective Bargaining

Classified staff have five collective bargaining units that represent all classified employees on work related conditions. Questions or concerns regarding working conditions should be directed to the ACE, CSEA, Teamsters or Operational Engineers union stewards or representatives. The various unions often appoint representatives to committees and groups that deal primarily with employee contracts, working conditions, and benefit information.

Confidentials – Meet and Confer Group

“Confidential Employee” is an employee of the District who, in the regular course of his/her duties, has access to confidential information that contributed to the development of management proposals and decisions with respect to employer-employee relations. (Government Code Section 3540.1(c)) As such, they are not a bargaining unit, but rather a meet and confer unit.

Student Participation

The Associated Students of Foothill College (ASFC) is responsible for representing all students to the college president, Academic Senate, Classified Senate, and college standing committees (FHDA Board Policy 2222, California Administrative Code Title 5 Section 51023.7). The ASFC appoints eligible students to serve on a number of college standing committees, including the Planning and Resource Council, the Core Mission Workgroups, among others. All Foothill students are represented on the Foothill-De Anza Board of Trustees by a non-voting Student Trustee (FHDA Board Policy 2222). The ASFC president is a member of the Planning and Resource Council.

Each Foothill student has specific rights and responsibilities as a student enrolled in the college. All students are encouraged to make their voice heard by voting or participating in student elections and in student clubs or by contributing their opinions to occasional college surveys regarding student satisfaction with the college and specific departments and services.

Participatory Governance

Students participate in decision-making processes in a variety of ways. The ASFC meets regularly and appoints student representatives to governance groups and committees within the college. The ASFC provides input to the prioritization process for new planning and resource requests through their appointments to the Core Mission Workgroups, the Operations Planning Committee, and the Planning and Resource Council. Students have a responsibility to gather information from these meetings and to disseminate this information and collect feedback from their student peers.

Administrator Participation

Operational Planning

Administrators participate in decision-making processes in a variety of ways. In their local areas of responsibility, they are responsible for seeking faculty, staff, and student input to improve programs and services, as well as working with their direct supervisors and appropriate committees and work groups to represent the ideas and issues of their areas. Managers are responsible for facilitating department and unit program reviews and plans by faculty and staff, as well as for facilitating division or service area meetings where faculty and staff work together to prioritize any requests for college-wide resources coming from their academic or service areas.

All administrators serve on the Admin Council, which meets monthly and includes all vice presidents, deans, directors, and supervisors. When needed, managers provide formal input on governance issues to the college president.

The Instructional Deans have a monthly meeting with the Vice President of Instruction and Institutional Research to problem solve and discuss operational issues such as providing curriculum support to faculty, program compliance and regulatory changes, enrollment management, and coordinating overlapping programs and services.

The President's Cabinet meets weekly and includes the President, all the Vice Presidents, two Associate Vice Presidents, and the College Researcher. President's Cabinet is responsible for discussing overall college operational issues and making recommendations to the president based on input from their areas.

Participatory Governance

Administrators are appointed to serve on a variety of Foothill College and District ad hoc and standing committees by the college president. The administrators provide input to the prioritization process for new planning and resource requests through their appointments to the Core Mission Workgroups, the Operations Planning Committee, and the Planning and Resource Council. In addition, administrators have a responsibility to solicit opinions from faculty, staff, and students in effected areas, as well as give those opinions reasonable consideration before final decisions are made that effect those individuals.

Non-Collective Bargaining

Administrators who are directors, deans, and vice presidents are represented by the meet and confer group, American Management Association (AMA). Questions and concerns regarding working conditions should be directed to AMA representatives.

Integrated Planning & Budget Procedures for Action

The goal of integrated planning and budget is to provide the college with the opportunity to examine the totality of the needs of the college in relationship to the Educational and Strategic Master Plan before making decisions.

The GUIDING PRINCIPLES used to develop the Integrated Planning and Budgeting processes were:

- Driven by our mission and Educational and Strategic Master Planning goals.
- Transparent, understandable and informed by data. The integrated planning and budget process defines HOW decisions are made, but the process does not make the decisions. The college leadership makes budgeting decisions informed by collaborative and transparent campus input. College leadership is accountable for their decisions and will provide, in writing, explanations when they do not accept the recommendations of planning councils.
- Iterative, cyclical process, involving annual assessment and refinement to ensure that it effectively integrates planning and budgeting.
- Foster flexibility and innovation as well as accountability for divisions, departments, and units. Ongoing assessment of the impact of expenditures will be a critical component of assuring accountability for results.
- Aligned with college Educational and Strategic Master Planning priorities and increasing student learning. Our budget reflects our choices and reallocation or substitution of resources may occur to meet highest priority needs.
- Intended to increase collaboration and efficiencies across the institution.
- Assume that these processes impact all funds.
- Collaboratively developed division plans that are informed by detailed program plans which are linked to Educational and Strategic Master Planning goals and action plans.

To develop a college-wide perspective, resource requests are rooted in SLO assessment/reflection, program review, and standing committee recommendations. In addition, all groups prioritizing requests are asked to submit a rationale for their prioritization and to link their priorities to the Educational and Strategic Master Plan and the improvement of student learning.

Resource Allocation Process

Resource allocation requests should be made through the annual Resource Allocation Process. All resource requests (personnel, B-budget, facilities, technology, equipment) are forwarded to and prioritized by the appropriate academic, administrative or student services division or by the subcommittee for prioritization of committee plans. All programs and services must participate in the program review process that includes annual updates in the years a program does not complete a full review. Program review and program review updates, Student Learning Outcomes and Assessment, and related supporting data will be reviewed as part of each request.

1. Prioritized requests from divisions, departments and Core Missions are submitted to the Operations Planning Committee.
2. Divisions and Departments may bring their requests to one or more Core Mission Workgroups first to gain more information or support. Core Mission Workgroups may submit their own requests.
3. All resource requests submitted to the OPC are vetted for accuracy in data and metrics and are then presented to the Planning and Resource Council (PaRC) for final prioritization in alignment with the Educational and Strategic Master Plan.
4. Final prioritizations are then forwarded to the College President for consideration.

Emergency Requests

Unexpected resource needs that occur outside the normal allocation calendar may be submitted to cabinet by the responsible administrator. Allocations that are granted will be reported back to PaRC.

Planning Membership Structures

In creating the membership structure for the Planning and Resource Council (PaRC), the various Core Mission Workgroups, and the Operations Planning Committee, appointments will be made as follows:

- Faculty appointments made by the Academic Senate
- Classified appointments made by the Classified Senate and Bargaining Units

Planning & Resource Council Guidelines

The policies integrating planning, program review, and resource allocation were developed by the Integrated Planning and Budget Taskforce Committee with final approval on June 24, 2009 by Roundtable, the existing highest participatory governance group. Prior to approval, multiple iterations were shared and revised with a number of college groups, including the Academic and Classified Senates and the Associated Students of Foothill College.

Integral to integrated planning and budget/resource allocation is a structure of Core Mission Workgroups which will guide the college in Educational and Strategic Master Planning and assist in prioritizing resource requests relevant to the ESMP. Prioritizations are forwarded to PaRC for college-wide prioritization and ultimate recommendation to the College President.

The Planning and Resource Council (PaRC) will only consider requests for ongoing budget allocation or redirection if current program review self-studies are on file. Requests which involve a new program, more than one program, or which don't fit within an existing program framework shall be accompanied by a division area review and/or planning document.

Charge to the Council

- Continue the policy of integrating planning with resource allocation by only considering and/or funding requests that have current academic, service, administrative, or committee program reviews and plans on file.
- Establish factors for determining how the College should spend any such permanent augmentation in funds from the District.
- Ensure the factors are not so prescriptive that we become overly rule bound.

Ongoing Budget Augmentation and Elimination

Guiding Principles

Multiple factors that should be considered:

- Changes in enrollments across divisions (WSCH), or overall headcount for college-wide services (counseling, library, admissions/records, etc.).
- Severe losses in a major funding source by a division of the College.
- A major new responsibility required of a division of the College, such as creation of a new department, maintenance of substantial new equipment, or adherence to new regulations.
- A significant change in educational methodology by a discipline, such as the need to incorporate new technology or redesign a program.
- A program's "value and quality" in relation to its productivity. The cost-benefit ratio should be found in the program review.
- Services and resources that align with the college strategic initiatives and support student learning.
- Inflation and cost-of-living adjustments.

Criteria that should not be used:

- Some money should go to each of the funding areas.
- The money should be equally distributed among the divisions and programs in the College.

Procedures

All requests for resource allocation or resource redirection must be made through the Resource Allocation Process.

Requests for resource allocation or to fund ongoing programs or initiatives will only be considered if the ongoing program or initiative proposal has a plan that is aligned with the college mission and the Core Mission Workgroups or is designed to improve student learning. Requests which involve a new program, more than one program, or which do not fit within an existing program framework shall be accompanied by a division area review and/or planning document.

Resource reductions or eliminations should be aligned with the college mission, the Core Mission Workgroups and with improving student learning.

Resource reductions or eliminations assume a timeline that would allow the process to unfold. In an emergency, the Cabinet and/or the Planning and Resource Council could take immediate steps.

Funding New or Expanding Programs or Initiatives

Guiding Principles

- Divisions or program areas identify new programs, significant program expansions, or other initiatives, which would be viable, and meet emerging student needs. This identification could be based on program review, changing demographics or workforce needs, developing technologies, etc.
- Program planning and review data or a planning document must accompany funding requests.
- Funding sources could stem from the Divisions absorbing start-up costs or from funding requested through the Resource Allocation Process.
- Deans or program leaders could write a rationale for permanent “B” budget funding, to be submitted through the Resource Allocation Process.
- Funding would follow the normal Resource Allocation Process, with the potential of seed funding through the “Fast Track to Innovation.”
- All new programs will complete program review and begin assessing student learning outcomes at the earliest reasonable time.

Procedures

All requests for resource allocation must be made through the Resource Allocation Process.

Requests for resource allocation or to fund new programs or initiatives will only be considered if the new program or initiative proposal has a plan and is aligned with the college mission and the Core Mission Workgroups or is designed to improve student learning. Requests which involve a new program, more than one program, or which don't fit within an existing program framework shall be accompanied by a division area review and/or planning document.

Determining and Allocating Full-Time Teaching Faculty Positions

Planning and Resource Council (PaRC) will only consider requests for faculty position allocation or redirection if current program review self-studies are on file. Requests which involve a new program, more than one program, or which don't fit within an existing program framework shall be accompanied by a division area review and/or planning document.

Guiding Principles

Multiple factors should be considered:

- Areas of the College do not “own” faculty positions; vacant positions revert to the College for possible reassignment.
- Positions should be evaluated based on College mission, strategic initiatives, and student learning.
- Departments with a high part-time faculty to low full-time faculty ratio should have priority, unless a department cannot, under unique circumstances, find any part-time faculty available to teach in a discipline.
- Departments with increasing enrollments should have priority over departments with decreasing enrollments.
- Highly “viable” programs should have priority over less viable programs. “Viability” should be determined by program review and should include such issues as assurance of future enrollments, availability of facilities, and provision of proper staff support.
- Established departments with no full-time faculty and viable newly proposed departments should have priority over departments with existing full-time faculty.
- Departments needing full-time faculty to address health/safety/legal requirements should have priority over programs having lesser such need.
- Departments should exhaust the possibility of reassigning other (possibly under loaded) full-time faculty to department before being authorized to proceed with full-time hire. Such reassignments should be consistent with contract provisions.

Criteria that should not be used:

- Whether or not the productivity of a department (measured in WSCH/FTE) is high or low. Departmental productivity may properly be used in determining the number of sections of classes offered and whether or not to continue a program, but productivity should play a much lesser role in deciding what portion of classes in a department should be taught by full or part-time faculty.
- The number of years a department has been making a request for a full-time hire.
- Recent retirements/resignations/reassignments of full-time faculty in a department.

Additional factors that should be used if there are more candidate pools than positions available:

- Positions with a truly exceptional candidate should have priority over positions with a less qualified applicant pool.
- Positions with a candidate able to teach in multiple disciplines should have priority over positions containing applicants able to teach in only a single discipline.
- Positions whose filling would advance the College's equal opportunity goals should have priority over those whose filling would not.

Procedures

- The District office communicates to the campus the number of available positions early in the fall quarter.
- The College President estimates additional positions that might become available due to unannounced retirements/resignations.
- Faculty requests are made through the Resource Allocation Process. PaRC examines the prioritized lists of faculty requests to make final recommendations to the College President.

- The College President makes the final decision based on recommendations from PaRC and available resources.
- PaRC will consider additional requests later in the academic year if new faculty needs emerge due to an unanticipated vacancy or if other needs emerge in the context of existing unfilled requests. The College President makes final decisions on additional recommendations from PaRC.

Determining and Allocating Contract Classified Staff Positions

The Planning and Resource Council (PaRC) will only consider requests for classified staff position allocation or redirection if current program review self-studies are on file. Requests which involve a new program, more than one program, or which don't fit within an existing program framework shall be accompanied by a service or division area review and/or planning document.

Guiding Principles

Multiple factors should be considered:

- Areas of the College do not “own” classified positions; vacant positions revert to College for possible reassignment.
- Positions should be evaluated based on College mission, strategic initiatives, and student learning
- Departments needing classified staff to address health/safety/legal/security requirements should have priority over programs having lesser such need.
- Evaluate available positions based on where money is currently spent on casual labor, comp time, and overtime.
- Highly “viable” programs should have priority over less viable programs. “Viability” should be determined by program review and should include such issues as assurance of future enrollments and/or services to students, availability of facilities and funding, and provision of proper staff support.
- Consider reallocating or eliminating the workload if a position is eliminated.
- Consider allocating positions to areas where workload is high if a position becomes available.
- Weigh the creation of new positions with the redistribution of work and workload.
- Adhere to union contract rules

Procedures

Classified staffing requests are made through the Resource Allocation Process. PaRC examines the prioritized lists of classified staffing requests to make final recommendations.

- Recommendations should follow classified union contract guidelines and management should meet and confer with the union(s) on changes in classified staff positions as required by the contract(s).
- The College President makes the final decision based on recommendations from PaRC and available resources.
- PaRC will consider additional requests later in the academic year if new classified staffing needs emerge due to an unanticipated vacancy or if other needs emerge in the context of existing unfilled requests. The College President makes final decisions on additional recommendations from PaRC.

Allocation of Office Space

Guiding Principles

- These guidelines were developed to insure that office space be allocated equitably to meet the needs of the college and to maximize the utilization of space.
- Full-time faculty, classified staff, and administrative offices shall be allocated according to the nature and content of the job. As has been the past practice, full-time faculty shall be assigned a private office whenever possible.
- People working in similar programs, areas, or disciplines shall be located in physical proximity, if practicable.

Foothill De-Anza Community College District Board Policies

Student Role in Governance 2222

Title V California Code §51023.7

Approved 2/8/93

Role of the Academic Senate in Academic and Professional Matters 2223

As outlined in Title V regulations, the Board of Trustees remains the body ultimately responsible for the policies of the District. In the execution of that responsibility, the Board recognizes its obligation under Title V regulations to “consult collegially” with the Academic Senate on “academic and professional matters.” In that spirit, an assumption common to these recommendations is that there are aspects in the operation of the District which are largely in the domain of faculty and others which largely are not.

There are also areas of concern which are the responsibility of both faculty and administration. Areas of “academic and professional matters” include the following:

1. Curriculum, including the establishment of prerequisites and placing courses within disciplines;
2. Degree and Certificate requirements;
3. Grading policies;
4. Educational program development;
5. Standards regarding student preparation and success;
6. Governance structures as related to faculty roles;
7. Faculty involvement in Accreditation;
8. Policies for Faculty professional development activities;
9. Policies for Program Review;
10. Processes for Institutional planning and budget development, and;
11. Other academic and professional matters as mutually agreed upon between the governing board and the academic senate.

Role of Classified Staff in Governance 2224

The Board of Trustees shall ensure that all classified staff be given the opportunity to participate in district and college governance as outlined in Title 5, section 51023.5.

Before the Board of Trustees takes action on matters significantly affecting classified staff, except in unforeseeable, emergency situations, the classified staff shall have input on formulation and development of those matters.

To provide opportunity to influence the deliberative process and encourage improved policies and recommendations, classified staff representatives to the various district and college governance bodies shall be granted the same rights and privileges provided to all other representatives.

The district and colleges shall provide appropriate means (e.g., training and/or orientations) to strengthen classified staff knowledge and understanding of governance issues.

Appointment of classified staff representatives to serve on district and college task forces, committees, or other governance groups shall be made by the Classified Senates and the classified collective bargaining units. Representatives will be fully accountable to their appointing organization.

Classified staff representatives are expected to work within the established guidelines of the participatory governance process.
