RE: 2016 Student Accreditation Survey Results

Overview

The student accreditation survey was developed collaboratively by the Foothill and De Anza Offices of Institutional Research and Planning. The survey was finalized with the Foothill Office of Instruction and approved by the Planning and Resource Council (PaRC) in Spring 2016 prior to administration. General announcements about the survey were made in the May 2016 Fusion. Questions focused on capturing student demographics, as well as student perspectives related to the Institutional Learning Outcomes (ILOs), Accreditation Standards and general satisfaction with the college. All students who were enrolled in spring quarter were sent an email invite with the survey link embedded. Out of about 14,000 students, 301 students completed the survey.

Highlights

Demographics (Q1-Q6)

- There was a higher proportion of female respondents than compared to the spring 2016 student population, 64% vs. 52%, and a lower proportion of male respondents, 30% vs. 47%
- White students were more represented in the survey than compared to the spring population (38% vs. 31%). Conversely, African American and Latino students were underrepresented (15% vs. 27%).
- Transfer degree or certificate seeking students were more represented in the survey than compared to the spring population (75% vs. 70%).
- More than two-thirds of respondents indicated all or most of their courses were on campus (70%) compared to 29% who indicated their courses were all or mostly online.
- About one-third of respondents indicated they were more than halfway in their path toward their primary educational goal (35%), while another 23% started this year.

Institutional Learning Outcomes (ILOs) (Q7-Q23)

Students were asked how much their experience at Foothill has contributed to their knowledge, skills and personal development in the following areas:

Communication

- 59% of the respondents indicated their experience at Foothill contributed very much or quite a bit to their ability to write clearly and effectively. Compared to the previous ILO assessment (Community College Survey of Student Engagement Survey Spring 2014), 72% reported very much or quite a bit. Please refer to methodology for a description of previous ILO assessment efforts.

- 60% of the students indicated their experience at Foothill contributed very much or quite a bit to their ability to understand oneself.” This finding is similar to the previous ILO assessment.
- 56% of the respondents indicated their experience at Foothill contributed very much or quite a bit to their ability to understand people of other racial and ethnic backgrounds. Compared to the previous ILO assessment, 58% reported very much or quite a bit.
- 44% of the respondents indicated their experience at Foothill contributed very much or quite a bit to their ability to contribute to the welfare of their community, which is an increase from the previous ILO assessment where 34% reported very much or quite a bit.

Standard I (Q24-Q28)

- 92% of the respondents strongly agree or agree “the mission of this college describes its broad educational purposes, its intended student population, the types of degrees and other credentials it offers, and its commitment to student learning and student achievement.”
- 90% of the respondents strongly agree or agree the “instructors clearly list and define student learning outcomes (SLOs) on their course syllabi.”
- 50% of the respondents agree their “instructors present data and information fairly and objectively,” and another 39% strongly agree.

Standard II (Q29-Q35)

- 84% of the respondents strongly agree or agree “the college supports learning by having services such as the library collections, tutoring, counseling, learning centers and computer labs available for student use. However, fewer students strongly agree or agree (79%) “The college supports student learning by providing information and training about how to access services.”
- 82% of the respondents strongly agree or agree “the college ensures equitable access to all of its students by providing appropriate, comprehensive and reliable services to students who attend courses face-to-face or online.”
- 70% of the respondents strongly agree or agree “counseling and advising programs orient students ensuring they understand requirements related to their programs of study and other relevant academic requirements, including graduation and transfer policies.”

Standard III (Q36-Q37)

- 84% of the respondents strongly agree or agree “the college hires employees who are qualified to teach and support students.”
- 82% of the respondents “the college assures safe building and walkways are constructed to ensure access to safety.

Standard IV (Q38)

- 16% of the respondents reported they do not know or do not feel it applies to them whether/if “the college makes it known that students are welcome to participate in decision-making processes and considers student views in matters where students have direct and reasonable interest;” 33% strongly agreed with this statement and another 39% agreed as well.

General Satisfaction (Q39-Q43)

- A majority of respondents strongly agree or agree that their relationships with students (89%) as well as interactions with faculty (92%) and student support services (80%) are helpful and supportive.
- A majority of respondents categorize their educational experience at Foothill as excellent (55%) or good (37%).

Methodology

The student accreditation survey was developed using Remark survey software and was administered between May 24, 2016 and June 24, 2016. Students were sent an email invitation by the Marketing and Public Relations Department with an embedded survey link. Incentives were offered in the form of 20 bookstore certificates ($30/each) that were raffled off to those who participated in the survey.

The Institutional Learning Outcomes (ILOs) were previously assessed in Spring 2012 and 2014 using the Community College Survey of Student Engagement (CCSSE), which does favor full-time students enrolled in face-to-face courses as the administration was conducted in class using paper and pencil surveys. The Spring 2014 administration yielded 1,044 responses (55% response rate). See <https://prezi.com/wqvn4g0ifxaw/assessing/> for additional information.
