

A Conversation With Luis Cortes Romero, Attorney and DREAMer

Immigration attorney Luis Cortes Romero grew up undocumented. He earned degrees from community college, San José State University and University of Idaho College of Law.

Now he's suing the Trump Administration on behalf of undocumented students.

4 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 24 | Campus Center Conference Room B

All are welcome

To obtain a free parking permit for this event, call 408.864.8749 or email maussjoe@deanza.edu

Cortes Romero is appearing at the invitation of Danny Acosta, assistant chief of the Foothill-De Anza Community College District Police Department, in support of undocumented students.

Sponsored by the Division of Equity and Engagement | Higher Education for AB 540 Students (HEFAS) | Office of the President