Normally, I would not be sharing or forwarding a class project to our entire college community but this one has implications for all of us, therefore I am forwarding you this invitation from Ben Stefonik on the very hot topic of ChatGPT. Thus far, I have seen an equity statement, job application, and professional bio, all written by ChatGPT, which could pass for being authentic. Thus, I think the more we can learn about how artificial intelligence, like ChatGPT, can impact our work and what we do and assumptions and decision we make. it will be to our advantage to know as much as we can. Please continue to Ben's invitation.

Best regards,

Bernadine

Dear Colleagues,

I invite you to participate in a college-wide survey to share your thoughts about Chat GPT and generative artificial intelligence. The survey was created in collaboration with my Psyc/Soc 7 Statistics for the Behavioral Science class. We are currently soliciting participants to complete the classified staff, administrator, and non-instructional faculty survey.

This is a great opportunity to share your thoughts and ideas about this new technology. The survey invites you to provide feedback on questions about pedagogy, academic integrity, social norms, and college-wide policies. The survey should take 10-20 minutes. There are several optional open-ended questions. If you would like to engage deeply on this topic, please give yourself some extra time. One of the goals of this survey is to draw upon the collective wisdom of our campus community.

The results of the survey (and a survey developed for students) will be presented by my class and myself at a college-wide forum hosted by President Bernadine Fong, held Wed. 3/1, 11:30-12:30pm via Zoom. The forum is open to students, faculty, staff, and admin - feel free to extend the invite. Zoom link: <https://fhda-edu.zoom.us/j/84811067124>

Click here to complete the survey. Submission deadline: Mon. 2/13 @ 11:00pm.

Please let me know if you have any questions.
