Associate Degree for Transfer-Social Justice Studies: General

Social justice is the idea that all members of a society are entitled to equal rights and equal opportunities. Social Justice Studies recognizes the social inequality and inequities in society--particularly regarding race and ethnicity, and gender and sexuality—and works in its analysis toward creating a more equitable society. More specifically, Social Justice Studies analyzes the injustices in society, such as how racism, sexism, and homophobia are manifested through discrimination, economic disparities, and violence. Furthermore, Social Justice Studies examines social policies that aim to alleviate injustices and create a more equitable society.

Foothill College's Social Justice Studies program provides an overview of how societal organization and practices result in unequal opportunities for racial and ethnic minorities, women, and LGBTQ individuals.

The Associate in Art in Social Justice for Transfer Degree (ADT) is designed to prepare students to transfer to local California State Universities (CSUs). Students who complete the Associate in Art in Social Justice Studies for Transfer Degree will be ensured preferential transfer status to local CSUs for Social Justice Studies majors and majors in related disciplines. The ADT degree requirements will fulfill the lower division major requirements at many local CSUs. Students are advised, however, to meet with a counselor to assess the course requirements for specific local CSUs and to validate which CSUs are considered local. The ADT degree will enable students to develop a strong foundation in race and ethnicity, gender and women's studies, social research methods or quantitative reasoning, and understanding patterns of inter-personal behavior, and will also offer interdisciplinary perspectives on social inequality and social justice. In addition, students will develop strong critical thinking, communication, and problem-solving skills that will prepare them for the requirements of upper division course work.

Program Learning Outcomes

- Students will be able to identify and analyze the causes of race and gender inequality in the United States.
- Students will identify and analyze social policies that have the potential to alleviate race and gender inequalities.
